Welcome to Larson Design Group!

Thank you for taking the time to look into a career with Larson Design Group. Our vision is to become an emerging national firm; a vision that is being made real by the entrepreneurial spirits of our employee-owners.

When I started with LDG in 1992, we had 40 employees and a reputation for design excellence, client service, and community involvement. Although we now have over 300 employees in five states, our commitment to design, clients, and community hasn't changed.

On behalf of everyone at Larson Design Group, I appreciate your interest in our firm. I invite you to look over this brochure, visit our website, LinkedIn, and Facebook page, and learn more about what it means to work at LDG.

Sincerely,
Keith S. Kuzio, PE
President & CEO

Accountability. Collaboration. Empowerment.

"I started working for LDG in 1997, right after graduating from Penn State with a B.S. in Civil Engineering. While here, I have been able to develop my career, advancing from a starting position to Director of Operations. LDG has offered me not only a place to work, but has encouraged me to practice and develop my profession while giving me access to the latest changes and demands within the industry."

"I was attracted to LDG because of their dedication to community stewardship. It's exciting to work for a growing company that stays loyal to its core values as it grows."

“LDG is a growing company with many advancement opportunities for its employees.

They offer a great training program that encourages each employee to take at least 40 hours of training per year. However, Larson Design Group does not discourage employees who want to take more than 40 hours. Everyone who is a part of our employee-owned company is supported in their efforts to always be one step ahead of our competition when it comes to new products or design concepts.”
